

Red Chevron Club Takes Hold of Boy Scouts in City

To those who are interested in the work of the Red Chevron Club, Dr. Mulvey's speech to the members of the Red Chevron Club, also a letter from A. Wender, a former scoutmaster of Montreal, make it apparent that from two different sources, the same problem was being carefully thought out.

When we read Mr. Wender's article in a later issue of the "Veteran" we interested ones began to sit up and take notice.

As this scheme to be the incentive to all the meetings etc., took place after we think it worth while publishing this in its entirety.

Old Regime Failed

Here was a world-wide organization that had not failed, for the past few years for the lack of proper support; now being brought out and put before us in a better light than hitherto, by a few public spirited men.

We are all more or less acquainted with the aims and ideas of the Boy Scout organization, and why it has not grown into as strong an institution as it should be in this country is hard to say. Probably the nearest truth is that the organization for the work is not easy to carry forward.

This promise and hard living country of ours, men are too engrossed with the building up of their own fortunes to have time to spare for the younger generation, except of their own immediate family.

Returned Men to the Front

But now we have the Red Chevron Club, a body of returned men who are setting the seal for all others to follow.

It may have been that the day of the man of tomorrow, and the nation's welfare, will be shaped by the new material in the proper sense.

This is the age of youth, and we must cultivate the young mind, even though the years roll on.

The wonderful work done by the Boy Scout organization, has proven what can be done by boys, and led to the right direction.

These, however, are not boys in the correct sense of the word, young men would more aptly describe them. They are of the age when children things are put behind and they look out upon the world with a mind that sees the responsibility of mankind ahead of them.

For these young men, the Boy Scout organization is not intended, except for a few who may have the talent and imagination to assist in the work of training.

The Boy's Best Years

The average boy has four years of his life that could be unproductive. The years when the spirit of Tom Sawyer lives with him when he is a boy, and he is full of wild romantic characters of fiction and history are little in the grade to him.

It is only a few short years that the boy can be a boy, and here in Canada we are too apt to forget it.

So much, that because he may be strong and husky, some fathers would rather see him working when not at school, or where because the boy shows a well developed brain, not him thinking of things that would be left left till later on.

It is difficult to support one organization, without perhaps appearing to disparage another, but we feel assured that the popular and the Boy Scout and its surrounding circles is such, that there is scope for all in this.

Civil Work for Some

The Red Chevron Club, by forcing the Boy Scouts to have a hold of its work in handling boys from twelve to sixteen years of age, and possibly younger, under a new system.

It is a work that is not lightly taken up, and again cannot be handled by the same kind of person as the Scoutmaster or Commissioner, that supervises the work, one needs to be of an active class of man, but of a quiet temperament, and imaginative, a dreamer in fact, but a dreamer that can build up his dreams into concrete substance.

There are openings for all men in every district who feel that they could handle and lead the boys in the way laid down by the organization. There are thousands of boys in this country, and no more than 118 are Scoutmasters, while in Montreal on May 31, 1912 over 6,000 Scouts paraded in uniform, while in Montreal on May 31, 1912 over 6,000 Scouts paraded in uniform, while in Montreal on May 31, 1912 over 6,000 Scouts paraded in uniform.

Plan of Campaign

The scheme upon which the work will be carried out is so that everything will be as far as possible work direct from the boys, and the Scoutmaster will have latitude for their own ideas, but the old system of, whereby each troop was left to its own devices, will be longer for the Executive of the Edmonton District Association will be for the purpose of supervising and generally assisting each and every troop.

Endeavour will be made to form a troop in every district, and correct recognition will be made of all Scouts and their subsequent career with their troops.

Perpetuation Scheme

This great idea, as suggested in Mr. Wender's article, of perpetuating the Canadian divisions will be carried out by forming troops or sections, according to the number of boys available in each district, each division representing one or other of the divisions of the old divisional corps, the names of the respective divisions will be given to the new divisions, and the names of the respective divisions will be given to the new divisions.

Remember your own boyhood

Remember your own boyhood days. Did you get the same chance for an out of school education?

Read the Scout law and you will find that in putting this into practice, your boy's mind is influenced for the very best in his life.

To The Boy

How do you spend your spare time, son? Just play about generally, sometimes alone and sometimes with your pals?

Have you tried organized play, wherever you not only enjoy yourself, but also learn something?

Have you sometimes thought that the other fellow doesn't play the same? Perhaps he thinks the same of you. It is the same with you, isn't it?

The Scout law helps you to play the same.

Some boys think that you'd do better when you grow older? If so, do you practice some hobby in this direction, son?

The Scout Association will help you with your hobby.

Have you thought what fun could be had in doing with a bunch of other fellows, and not that that nature teaches?

That is a part of a Scout's work. Isn't it fine to think that if another boy gets hurt at school, or out in the streets you could help him?

The Scouts will teach you first aid, swimming, fire-drill, and everything useful in life.

First make up your mind and come with the rest.

Don't let it be said that Edmonton boys are behind in this.

The Scout Association will help you get the uniform etc.

for each locality, and apart from this the Scouts and Scoutmasters will be registered and looked after in the same way as troops. Those are for those who live too far from any other Scoutmaster, or who wish to live up to the principles of the Boy Scout movement.

MULDOON

By H. R. C. PAGE, First Year Student at the University of Alberta

"Hall! Who are you?" This challenge greeted the officer of the watch as he rounded the corner of the street.

"Shout!" The pass-word was short back, for a naked, barefooted, shivering figure of a man in the officer's throat.

The man was a small, thin, and a jerk of the wrist could replace the weapon at the "On Guard" ready to thrust or shoot.

The officer jumped on the first step, beside the second man on duty, who was gazing across No Man's Land in the direction of the enemy's trench.

"How far is the trench?" the officer asked.

"About a hundred and fifty yards," the man replied.

The man pointed toward a small bump of earth, a shade blacker than the rest of the ground.

Johnstone Walker's Daily Store News

THIS STORE CLOSING ON SATURDAY AT 1 p.m.

THE NEW SPRING SUITS

Are Most Captivatingly Smart and Decidedly Lower in Price

Such news as this can't help but put women in a happy frame of mind, and at the same time increase the popularity of the tailor.

Fashion this season lays down no arbitrary rule, but rather provides such variety of individual preference becomes the determining factor.

Among the first arrivals are models of smart simplicity and a variety of others, more or less elaborate with intricate embroidery and braid designs.

Tricotines, Fretwell and Serge remain the favored fabrics, and navy blue steadfastly holds first place in the color scheme. A new medium tinted brown is noted, besides becoming shades of taupe, grey and black. Each suit is faultlessly tailored, and much better value than those seen in season.

SUCCESS OR FAILURE

Wouldn't it be a matter of extreme regret if, after the "Salesmanship Campaign" ends, you found that you missed the big Oldsmobile or one of the other fine Automobiles by just a mere handful of subscription credits?

We want to impress you with the vital importance of keeping up the "lick" to the finish. Don't slow up now. And by all means don't elect yourself a winner and complacently relinquish your interest in obtaining more credits—you may need them. May be some loathsome member will outstrip you in the race, and win by a few points—the very subscriptions you could have had, but which you failed to get because you were over-confident.

Do you think you have a high enough score to capture one of the Big Automobiles that is the logical question to ask yourself. We don't want to discourage you and make you feel that you haven't any chance at all, only to warn you against being too confident. A wise rule to follow is the rule of "Safety First."

There is no many subscriptions as you possibly can, build up your pile of credits high enough to keep the other fellows from overtaking you. You want to win—you must win—your friends have "patted" their faces to you. They have stored up tons of volcanic "HURRAHS" ready to shout out when you win. Make today Over The Top Day. To be a winner you must work every minute of today and until ten tonight with all your might.
